(VAISHAKHA 7, SAKA ERA 1885)

The Radio and Electricals Manufacturing Company Limited which is a Government Company, has been manufacturing PVC insulated cables and wires in various sizes and voltages.

With a view to extending the maximum benefit to Government Departments, the Company has reserved the right of making sales direct to consumers within the State in order to avoid the incidence of distributor's commission falling on consumer Departments of Government, and the benefit is passed on to the consumers. A discount of 10 per cent on the published list prices is passed on also to all Government undertakings

It is reported that the prices of cables offered by 'REMCO' are quite competitive with the products of other standard manufacturers. The Government Departments are permitted to purchase their requirements of wire and cables without approaching the Stores Purchase Committee or calling for quotations, for one year in the first instance, the position being reviewed thereafter
